

Megalithgrab

mit

Schalenstein

Gemeinde Bunsoh / Schleswig Holstein

Eine Foto-Dokumentation von Josef Rahm Otto

Cups on Stone by Bunsöh Region Dithmarschen Germany (54° 9' 54" N, 9° 18' 26" O)

Photos by Josef Rahm Otto

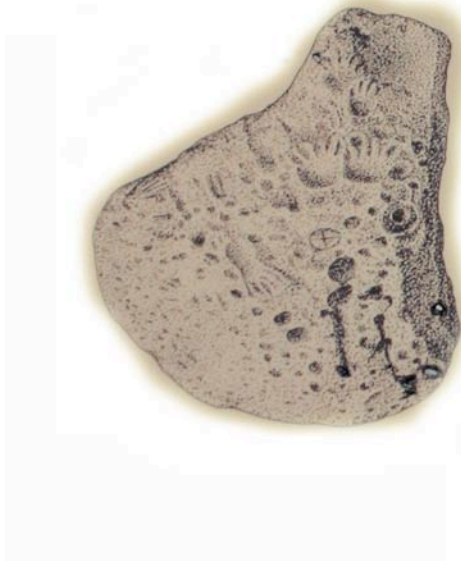

Bunsöh Megalithtomb with cups, handprints and wheel

This is one of the most important burial chambers in the north of Germany, located near the town of Albersdorf.

The burial hill is still there, just the top was opened. So the tomb itself is in a bowl. But the important thing here is the famous 'Schalenstein'. Its surface is covered with markings and carvings. The handprints and a waggon- or sun-wheel and the handprints make this cup-decorated stone very interesting.

Copy after a photo from 1979

Zeichnung nach einem Foto von 1970

Ausschnittzeichnung von 1909

Detail-Painting from 1909

Now, the stone is hardly destroyed by erosion and by human hands

The complete view of the tomb

View of the tomb

detail of the chamber

detail of the chamber

detail of the chamber in- and outside

The graved headstone with the waggon or sun-wheel?

detail of the gravestone

a waggon- or sun-wheel

just above the handprints

the handprints

detail handprints

a coin of 1 €uro

detail

cups

cups

cups

cups with signs

cups with the wheel

cups

unknwon engraving

Bibliographie

Molt, Paul Volquart - Die ersten Karten auf Stein und Fels vor 4000 Jahren Weiland 1979

Vorgeschichte.- Mitteilungen des Anthropologischen Vereins in Schleswig-Holstein. 6. Heft. Kiel, Universitäts-Buchhandlung, 1893.

Hamburg-Harburg, Sachsenwald, Nördliche Lüneburger Heide. Führer zu frühgeschichtlichen Denkmälern 7. Mainz : Zabern, 1975.

Tempel, Wolf-Dieter: - Landkreis Rotenburg (Wümme). Führer zu archäologischen Denkmälern in Deutschland 4. Stuttgart : Theiss, 1984.